Rain Barrel Rebate Program

The Village of Marwayne is happy to introduce a new environmental incentive just in time for summer; residents can apply for a $50.00 rebate, to a maximum of $100.00 for 2 barrels, for the purchase of a rain barrel.

Inexpensive and easy to install, rain barrels are a great way to conserve the Village of Marwayne's drinking water supply. Rain barrels collect and store rainwater that runs off your roof. This water can then be used in your yard, reducing the need to use treated water from your taps.

The average rain barrel holds approximately 200 litres of water and depending on precipitation, will fill about three times in a typical summer, saving around 600 litres of potable water! Savings will vary based on the use of the water in the rain barrel and the amount of rain received.

Previously purchased rain barrels do not qualify under our program. Proof of purchase is required. Please visit www.marwayne.ca for a full list of the program guidelines.

Council Meeting Highlights

- Council approved a new rain barrel rebate program as a means of encouraging water conservation. Residents are able to complete an application form and submit their receipts to receive a $50.00 credit on their utility account. A maximum of two $50.00 credits per utility account are eligible under the program for a total of $100.00. There is no cash back option and previously purchased barrels, prior to the launch of the program, do not qualify.
- Council reviewed the correspondence from the Provincial Government, including details on the newly launched Local Government Fiscal Framework (LGFF) which has replaced the Municipal Sustainability Initiative (MSI) effective 2024.
- Council reviewed the financial statements of the Marwayne Fire Department. Council recognized their hard work and dedication towards keeping members of our community and those within the County of Vermilion River safe. Council greatly appreciates the ongoing dedication of our volunteers and their selflessness when it comes to donating every penny of their earnings back to the Marwayne Fire and Rescue Department.

Seniors Property Tax Deferral Program

The Seniors Property Tax Deferral Program allows you to defer all, or part, of your residential property taxes through a low-interest home equity loan with the Government of Alberta. The program will pay the property taxes to your municipality on your behalf. You repay the loan, with interest, when you sell your home, are no longer eligible for the loan, or sooner if you choose. You may apply for a loan on your primary residence if you are age 65 or older, listed as the registered owner, a Canadian citizen or permanent resident of Canada, an Alberta resident and you must have a minimum of 25% equity in your residence. You can apply to the program at any time but are encouraged to apply at least 30 days before the residential property tax deadline. This will allow the program enough time to process your application, forward payment to your municipality and avoid penalties. The loan and interest can be repaid at any time without penalties. Monthly repayments are not required. For information, call the Alberta Supports Contact Centre at 1-877-644-9992

GRIEVING THROUGH SUMMER

For many people, summer comes with much anticipation for opportunities to enjoy warmer weather and to create new memories. However, every season may bring on new challenges for individuals navigating grief. Summertime grieving can feel quite different than wintertime grieving. We are often expected to feel more joyous and happier in the summer due to the shift in weather, but our grief may not always match this expectation. Summertime grieving might feel very different than our experience with wintertime grief, when our emotions may better match the dreary weather. Recognizing the reality that grief follows us into the summertime and being aware of some points for reflection can help us to feel more equipped to endure the new season.

There are often holidays that are targeted as being particularly difficult for those grieving, such as Mother's Day or Father's Day. Summertime brings Canada Day and the Civic Holiday. These holidays are not discussed as frequently in relation to grief, but it is very important to remember that grief and mourning look different for each individual or family. Perhaps you are someone who has a lot of memories from these summertime holidays. Maybe there were activities, such as watching fireworks or spending the day as a family, which may feel quite different without your loved one. Be open to discussing how the holidays may feel through your grieving experience.

Birthdays and anniversaries are also highlights of the summer for many. Thinking about the missing attendance of your loved one as you celebrate these events can bring on mixed emotions. Try reflecting on past memories by spending time looking through old photos or videos to honour your loved one.

Last, think about how our senses impact grief during the summer. Consider the following:

Smell – How does it affect you when you smell the campfire? Perhaps this activity reminds you of your loved one.

Sight – What is it like watching the sunset late on a summer night? There could be a sense of peace or calm that may remind you of your loved one.

Taste – Is watermelon a staple in your home during the summer? Pausing to think about whether it was a favourite of your loved one may lead to more grief reflections.

Sound – Do you notice the sound of birds chirping outside? Maybe your loved one was an avid bird watcher.

Touch – How does it feel when you walk across the lawn? You may be reminded of memories from spending time in your backyard.

Simply pausing to think about holidays, birthdays/anniversaries, and the range of sensory experiences during the summertime can allow us to respect our grieving experience while also giving ourselves permission to enjoy the change in season.

The Marwayne Legion and the Village of Marwayne have teamed up to start replacing the whiskey barrel planters at many local businesses around the village. Huge thanks to Sharon and Kay Kneen for planting and maintaining these planters every summer, and to P&H for the donation of fertilizer to keep them growing beautifully.

We'd like to remind businesses to please monitor their barrels and add water when needed.

A Pastor's Gleanings

Summer! My Dad used to say, "It's the best time of the year." I think the majority of people feel the same. Norman Vincent Peale wrote: "[Summer] is that time of year when nature, quietly but impressively, demonstrates its growing power." For gardeners, summer is a busy time---keeping up with weeding and watering.

For students and teachers, summer is a time when the school schedule gives way to less structure and, possibly, opportunities for more spontaneous activities. "Let's go to the lake." "Let's have a picnic."

Many people go on a holiday during the summer---a time to "get away" from the routine of "house and home" and do something "different". The cattle are out on the pasture, and don't require as much of the rancher's time.

Summer is part of the wondrous diversity of the seasons we enjoy in this part of the world. God promised Noah: "While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night, shall not cease" (Genesis 8:22).

Psalms 74 verses 16 and 17 speak of God's creation and control of the whole world. The psalmist wrote: "The day is Yours [God], also the night; You established the moon and the sun. You set all the boundaries of the earth; You made summer and winter." In the context of the whole of Psalm 74, the psalmist is making the point that it is wrong for unbelievers to consider God as less than He is.

From our perspective, God sometimes seems slow to intervene on our behalf. But what might appear slow to us is good timing from God's perspective. When God is silent and you are in deep anguish, it might be helpful to review the great acts of God throughout Biblical history. There are many!

The seasons continue. Enjoy them. God is at work---not only in the cycle of the seasons---but also in your life.

ADAMA Canada donates $10,000 to help replace ice plant in Marwayne

Marwayne's curling, hockey, figure skating and CanSkate programs were at risk of being put on ice this winter, but a chance meeting between two people who really appreciate what that would mean for the community may have saved the season.

"The ice plant that serves both our arena and curling rink is on its last legs," says Yolanda Oberhofer, President of the Marwayne Agricultural Society. "Much work has been done to keep the plant running for as long as possible, but the time has come to replace it and the need is urgent. We were unsure that the plant will pull us through another year."

And so it was with a stroke of luck that Oberhofer bumped into Cheri Ferrell, an Area Business Manager, with ADAMA Canada.

"I was chatting with Yolanda and the challenges they were having with keeping the rink going came up and I just thought to myself, this sounds like something that is right up the alley for Stomping Grounds," says Ferrell.

Now in its second year, Stomping Grounds was created by ADAMA Canada with the mandate to invest in local initiatives that support youth, health and connection. Ferrell encouraged Oberhofer to fill out the application and in April their application was selected for a $10,000 investment - one of 22 community-nominated projects the company will be investing in across Canada this year.

"When you apply, you don't want to get your hopes up, but when we heard we got it that was really exciting," says Oberhofer. "We're really grateful for the support and the opportunity provided by ADAMA. Its going to keep these programs going and affordable."

Prior to the investment from ADAMA, they Ag Society was looking at other ways to raise money, including increasing user fees.

"Significantly increasing user fees was really a last resort for us," says Oberhofer, fearing higher fees would limit accessibility to the heart of the community. "It isn't just hockey players and curlers that use the space. People go there for shows or meetings, but without the facilities for hockey and curling all those other activities wouldn't be possible."

"Running into Yolanda at an ag event in a facility not unlike their arena, shows you how important places like this are to communities. A lot of fun and games goes on in those places, but sometimes even a little business gets taken care of," says Ferrell.

About ADAMA

ADAMA Canada has been supplying the Canadian agricultural community with crop protection products for more than a decade. We offer an innovative approach to ag and proactively seek opportunities to listen to what our customers, experts and colleagues have to say, taking their inputs and learning from their experience. We combine these insights with our expertise and respond with new products, solutions, services, tailored commercial policies, or information that is relevant to them. We are passionate about agriculture and approach what we do as much more than just a job. Our straightforward, get-it-done attitude helps us stay focused on what we care about most: helping our customers create more sustainable, profitable businesses. ADAMA is the seventh largest crop protection company globally with sales in 100 countries and has the largest portfolio of any company with over 270 active ingredients.

Lastly, Larissa Van Nes and Jamie day; thank you for helping get this even off. It was great to work with you both!

The Annual Marwayne Rodeo Street Dance is just one of Cheryle Eikeland's legacies. Everywhere she went, she always made an impression that no one could ever forget. From her spunk and contagious laughter, to her positivity and never ending support, she made a difference for the better within this community. I am honored to help continue on this event in Cheryle's memory. 14 years and some small changes later, I can confidently say, we made her proud for how we all came together. She is truly missed by all of us, but never forgotten.
